EcoTerminal

EcoTerminal The recycling philosophy

EcoTerminal is a new collection concept for the separated collection of small amounts of household waste in a modern design column

MORE! B.V. presents the EcoTerminal. Separating household waste is becoming more important. Raw materials are being exhausted and recycling is becoming more and more necessary. Waste separation is taking place on a massive scale. It is in fact the smaller, more expensive waste channels where greater profits can be made.

The public is willing to collect household waste separately. It is not always obvious where they should go for the separated collection of used goods. Consider mobile phones, domestic electrical appliances, batteries, ink cartridges, CDs/DVDs, energy-saving lamps etc. It is these products in particular that contain many expensive and recyclable materials. These can easily be handed in at the EcoTerminal.

Corporate social responsibility

You can demonstrate your social responsibility by installing an EcoTerminal.

A service that will definitely have a positive effect on your image, apart from the simple fact that separated collection is not only necessary but better.

Special characteristics of the EcoTerminal

- Easy to install on a concrete base
- Available in all RAL colours
- Available with various openings
- Available with LED lighting
- 6 waste channels for separated collection
- Can be provided with stickers in your own style and with your logo
- Product and material recycling, therefore conserving precious raw materials.
- Positive image, trendsetting and corporate social responsibility.
